PROGRAM SUMMARY

We are Project Avary, a community of youth and adults who have personally experienced parental incarceration.

We're offering a fun and completely online program so children who have a parent in prison do not have to go through this experience alone. Our whole community, staff included, have had a parent incarcerated at some point in their lives. Thanks to our generous sponsors, there is no cost for your child to attend.

Program Offerings:

- A place to connect. Youth connect with other kids and adult counselors from across the country. All participants and facilitators have been impacted by parental incarceration.
- A place to share. Youth can talk about their experience (if they want), in a community free of judgment.
- A place to give back. Youth may apply to become Junior Counselors, where they may find joy in supporting others.
- Oh yeah, it's FUN! We believe that play is necessary to build relationships and communities. While this group does address a serious issue, it is also serious fun!

To Participate, youth must:

- Be between the ages of 10-15
- Have a parent who is or was incarcerated
- Be aware of the parent's incarceration
- Have internet and device access during scheduled group times

ABOUT US

Project Avary has been working with children of incarcerated parents for over two decades.

What makes us special?
Our community of support and belonging!

We began as a summer camp in 1999 and have evolved into an extensive year-round program — offering retreats, day-long field trips, community groups, and mentorship to CIP within community, school, and online settings. Our focus is to provide a fun and supportive community, so children who have a parent in prison do not have to go through this experience alone. Our whole community, many staff included, have had a parent incarcerated at some point in their lives.
